EXECUTIVE PRODUCER

Collective Act is looking for an exceptional Executive Producer to join our senior leadership team to develop and deliver the Dreamachine programme, a 5* interdisciplinary experience exploring the wonder of the human mind, across the world.

A one-of-a-kind immersive work, Dreamachine has been created in collaboration with Turner Prize-winning artists Assemble, Grammy and Mercury nominated composer Jon Hopkins, and a world-renowned team of leading scientists, philosophers and technologists. After a sell-out tour of the UK in 2022, Dreamachine is now preparing to tour the globe. <https://dreamachine.world/>

ABOUT THE ROLE

The Executive Producer will work closely with the Director to lead the planning and delivery of Dreamachine. We are looking for a highly committed team player to hold a central role in realising the scale, potential and ambition of this major public programme.

Do you have proven success in fundraising, developing commercial partnerships and/or securing investment? Are you excited by realising a big vision, with both high standards, and razor sharp attention to detail?

Do you have considerable experience of developing new creative work with interdisciplinary teams; proven relevant networks across the world, a track record in developing UK and international partnerships, and managing complex stakeholder relationships, from inception to project delivery?

Do you have astute negotiating and communication skills, strong business and financial acumen, and an eye for contracts - at both company and project budget level? Are you highly adaptable and resourceful, excited to work alongside a team of diverse and brilliant minds from a range of backgrounds and approaches, with a creative, collegiate and flexible approach to collaboration?

If so, we would love to hear from you.

KEY TERMS

Salary: Circa £60,000, negotiable depending on your experience.

The Executive Producer is a key role in the team, and we're looking for the right fit and approach - so if you believe you have the skills, values and experience but would prefer to work flexibly, for example, part time, we are open to exploring this. If you are really excited by the opportunity but are currently working on a freelance contract basis, please do get in touch to discuss.

Due to the highly collaborative nature of our work, it's important that you can spend at least 75% of your working time with the team in our studio in Hackney, London.

We would particularly love to hear from people who are motivated by the mission and values of Dreamachine, and are driven by ensuring the deepest impact possible for our audiences - with inclusion and access at the heart of all that we do.
